FAYE ECHOLS

DEC 31, 1952 - APR 25, 2021

WARNER ROBINS –
Rayma Faye Echols, 68, passed away peacefully on Sunday, April 25, 2021, at Heart of Georgia Hospice's Hazel Colson House in Perry after an extended illness. At her request, there will not be a formal gathering to celebrate her life. In lieu of flowers, the family respectfully requests memorial contributions to Hazel Colson Hospice House, 1120 Morningside Drive, Perry, GA 31069.

Faye was born in Macon to the late Raymond Echols and the late Gloria Anne Echols. She was a homemaker. She loved her animals, was a friendly, outgoing person, and was generous with her family and friends. Faye was a talented artist, always doodling and drawing, often in three-dimension. She could always complete puzzles quickly, figuring out how things worked and fit together. Faye loved NASCAR most of her life, whether she was going to a race or watching it on television every weekend during the annual racing season. She was always thrilled by the competition amongst the drivers and was so excited each time her favorite car (at the time) crossed the checkered flag first.

Survivors include her children, Anne Echols Alves of Flowery Branch, and Nick Echols of Warner Robins; her grandchildren, Julia Alves, Oliver Alves, and Sophie Alves; her siblings, Dennis Echols (Alice) of Gordon, Leisa Hartley (Jimmy) of Lizella, and Sherrian McAnn (Ralph Fluentes) of San Antonio, Texas; and several nieces and nephews.

Please leave condolences for the family in the online guestbook at www.watsonhunt.com. Watson-Hunt Funeral Home in Perry has been entrusted with the arrangements.

I can honestly say a few of my favorite childhood memories involved Faye taking me and Nick out to eat at McDonalds every Friday and hanging out at the house, or going to Eats N Sweets to grab a coke. I considered Faye as a second mom when I was in elementary school because she treated me as her own anytime I was around her. She will be missed dearly.
