“ I'll never forget the first day I hung out with Mike. I had cooped myself up in my aunt's house away from people and hurt and I had meet Mike on Facebook and had been chatting with him for days, he finally invited me to go asking with him to fly his planes and to possibly go out to have a few drinks and sing some karaoke. I hadn't had that much fun in years. He introduced me to so many people whom became great friends. We sang so many songs together. Karaoke and model flying planes will never be the same without you there. I miss you friend!
